FRIDAY JUNE 9, 1882

THE OHIO REPUBLICANS

The Ohio Republicans met in State Convention on Wednesday, and the attendance was unusually large. The Committee on Resolutions reported a platform regretting the death of President Garfield; expressing confidence in President Arthur and an approval of his moderate and patriotic course amid embarrassing circumstances, unavoidably attending such a national crisis, indorsing the Administration of Governor Foster; condemning the many outrages on the Jews in Russia and other parts of Europe, and soliciting the continued efforts of this Government for their relief; indorsing the principle of protection to American industry; demanding that the liquor traffic bear its share of the public burden by direct taxation, and that the Constitution be amended to that end, and closing with a reference to the past record of the Republican party in preserving the life of the Nation, in giving free domestic rights and suffrage to slaves, in the reconstruction of the Union, in upholding the national honor in the rapid payment of the public debt, and in wise public measures, which have made the country prosperous, and affirming it to be the purpose of the Republicans of Ohio to continue to war upon dishonesty and fraud at the ballot box until a free and fair count is firmly secured to every citizen. The platform was adopted.

THE OREGON ELECTION.

The Republican Congressional Committee is especially pleased with the result in Oregon. It was a surprise to the most sanguine, and is accounted a harbinger of sure victory on the Pacific Coast. The victory is complete. The whole Republican State ticket is elected. George's majority is about 2,500. There is no longer doubt about a Republican majority of two on joint ballot in the Legislature. Returns from remote counties may increase it to six or seven.

The Independence Lake property is for sale. This place is known as one of the finest pleasure resorts in the State. Independence Lake lies almost in the Sierra Nevada mountains. No matter how hot and sultry may be the valley, a cool and refreshing retreat may be always found at this place. It is surrounded by lofty forests and pleasant groves, and is fast achieving a reputation below among aristocratic people as a fine pleasure resort. It is the finest fishing spot to be found anywhere in the mountains. In connection with the property are large barns, out-houses, dams, etc. There are 320 acres of land, and the hotel has 23 sleeping apartments. A fine bargain may be had by anyone desiring to purchase the property. As the tourist season is just commencing, a fine chance may be had for a bargain. For price, terms, etc. apply to John Keiser, Truckee.

The Odd Fellows of Oregon have purchased a farm, comprising 100 acres of land admirably located near the mouth of the Sandy, in the eastern portion of Multnomah county, on the line of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company's railroad, and about twelve miles from Portland. The farm is to be used as a home for the aged and indigent of the Order, that are not otherwise provided for.

U. S. bonds are now at a premium of 22 cents—equal to five and one-half years interest. The JOURNAL has repeatedly stated that it will not sell its bonds for less than 1.30. That price will be reached within a month after the election of the Republican nominee for President in 1884.

We notice that Frank Fields Fowler is still one of the acting Board of Directors of the N. & O. Mr. Fowler is Moore's partner. The enterprise will suffer just as long as Fowler or Moore are connected with it in any shape or manner.

There has been a rise in the price of copper in England, which is partially due to the belief that the extensive use of electricity will greatly increase the demand for that metal.

The yield of the Idaho mine for the month of May was $56,513. Dividend No. 156, of $7.50 per share has been declared, payable immediately.

The Carson Tribune hazards the prediction that Canavan will carry the Ormsby county Democratic primaries against Adams.

Since the latest operation for cancer of the tongue, Senator Ben Hill's condition is steadily improving.

Matt Canavan is reasonably certain of the Democratic delegations from Storey, Ormsby and Elko counties.

Truckee's Outlook.

The Republican says "the season is now fully opened and business in all its departments is fully as good as was anticipated. The mills are all running and have in steady employment as many, and perhaps more men than any previous year. The lumber business promises to be fully as good, and even better, than last season, which was one of the best that has been known in this section for years. All the millmen have large and lucrative contracts to fill, and a majority of them have a large amount of logs in their ponds, ready for the saw, which, when sawed, will put thousands of dollars in circulation here. The new round house will be another source of congratulation. It will cost in the neighborhood of fifty thousand dollars, a large proportion of which will be disbursed here. The merchants on the streets have no complaint to make in their special lines, and report that as much is done in their respective branches of trade as in any previous year at this season. Some report larger sales. If they have any complaint to make it is in the matter of collections, which are not yet quite easy. Taking all things into consideration, this is considered a very favorable season, and many will make a profitable clean up when the cleaning up time comes."

San Francisco's Loss by Fires in Seventeen Years.

Fire Marshal John L. Durkee has prepared a table which shows the loss by fire, insurance on property, amount paid, average loss of each fire, and average loss to each inhabitant from July, 1864, to June, 1881, a period of seventeen years. The figures show that the total loss by fire during that time was $11,368,558.40, insurance on property affected, $20,606,881.44, and losses paid, $5,751,701.47, leaving a net loss of $5,616,858.93.

A Medal for Van Dusen.

Wednesday afternoon the Board of the San Francisco Stock Exchange held an executive session, at which a committee was appointed to draft suitable resolutions and to select a suitable medal, which is to be presented to Arthur Van Dusen for his heroic efforts to rescue the seven miners in the Alta drift.

It is said that President Arthur has no intention to seek a renomination.

POLITICAL INDIFFERENCE

There is a great deal of truth in the following from the Reno Times:

For some unaccountable reason it is a noteworthy fact that but very little interest is being manifested in the approaching election. No one seems to know or care a snap how the thing goes. It begins to look as though the people had made up their minds to stand aloof until election day, and then quietly march to the polls and vote for whom they conceive to be the best men, without regard to party. The fraudulent and wicked manner in which politics in Nevada have been run for the past ten years, is enough to disgust any man who has any regard for free institutions or the right of franchise. Principle has cut no figure in Nevada politics for ten years. It has been the universal custom in all these years with every man who wished to be elected to an important office, to buy his way in with his own money, if he had it, and if not, to sell himself soul and body, beforehand, to some individual or corporation to obtain the requisite funds. Such things are simply villainous, and must have an end. We are greatly mistaken in the signs of the times, if any man is permitted again to force his way into office by the inordinate use of money.

Irrigation of Sagebrush Lands.

The Idaho Statesman says Possibly crops may be raised by running ditches through the grain fields with the plow and letting water into them, but this system cannot be depended upon, and experience, although a dear lesson, is teaching the thirsty farmer's that he must adopt a sure and safe system of irrigation. It requires a vast amount of labor to prepare land for successful irrigation. The only sure way is to level the land in plats and surround each plat with a levee. The water must then be let on in several places from the highest side, with sufficient care to keep the ground from washing. There will be but little trouble in letting the water on if the plat is as level as it should be in order to flood it successfully. From two to five acres as large as plats can be successfully made on what may be called very level land. The plats can be retained for years by preserving the levees and not plowing them up. The plowing and harrowing should be done inside the levees each year. Every harrow should have a lever attachment that can be used to fill the dead furrows without inconvenience or delay in harrowing. The vast amount of work in preparing land for irrigation is expensive, but when the land is once prepared and the ditches and levees arranged, it will remain with only a little expense in repairing the levees and ditches for all time to come. Such a piece of land can be made to produce a good crop every year.

"No man, I think, should devote him self to poetry as a means of making a living. True poetry is the offspring of our best hours. If you make a trade of it you may be sure that it will degenerate into mere verse making. Therefore, follow some calling or profession for a livelihood, and keep the gift of song sacred and for itself alone." —[Long fellow.]

The Bearing Year.

Through the several of the noted States for producing apples, the present year is one of abundance. There will be probably a heavier crop than one can be profitably marketed, and prices will run low. Last year was the light crop, and good apples brought fifty or sixty cents per bushel at the orchard, and some more. The same light crop will probably be borne next year. There is a good deal of discussion year after year, and much inquiry, how to equalize the product. Many experiments have been made by removing the blossoms and young fruit. In one instance, a severe cold storm swept through a fine apple region when the young fruit had set, and destroyed the whole crop. It changed the bearing year for a time, and the next or odd year gave heavy and profitable returns. The storm put many thousands of dollars into the pockets of the orchardists. If such a storm could be procurable in some way, in other apple regions, it would prove a money-making occurrence. In its absence, however, much may be done artificially. Shaving off all the blossoms, or the young fruit when no larger than cherries, the bearing year has been changed on young trees. While the orchard is coming into bearing, the change is easily effected, and the labor is not great. It would be too expensive and laborious on old trees; the change on these is more difficult, and the labor is wasted. Sheep shears are the most convenient for the work. Knocking the young apples off with poles bruises the trees. It would be worth while to try the experiment of removing the young crop when in blossom, and also after the fruit has set, and observe which answers the desired purpose best.—Country Gentleman.

Care of the Bees.

Bees are having a hard time this Spring, the season has been so cold thus far with but few days in which they can gather honey or pollen, and without doubt many swarms will be lost from want of a little feed and Spring dwindling, a little feeding from top of frames and chambers would save many, but trust soon we shall have warmer weather and full bloom of fruit, which will give them quite a start in life again. I think all would find a great benefit from the use of foundation for brood centres as well as for boxes, and now is the time to get them both ready for use, and have the guides combs in box and hives all ready for immediate use, and then when swarms issue they will not have to go to your neighbors to live, or perhaps go into some old box or barrel, where they will be of little practical benefit. Clean out all filth from hives, and if swarms are weak close entrances to such to one half inch, to prevent robbing, until warmer weather and plenty of flowers, then give them space again. Give them, if no more, one-half the care you give the pigs and poultry, and they may pay you many fold more than either of the others. Look at them every day or two and see if all right. A little care for them pays in dollars and cents.—S. H. S. in N. E. Farmer.

The Day, the richest mine in this section of Nevada, has tapped their ore body on the 780-level, and the ore proves richer than that tapped above. In cutting across the ledge Wednesday night twelve tons of ore were extracted and brought to the surface, the average being over $200 per ton. The development in the mine is astonishing. Shipments of ore the past two days aggregate over 200 tons. Thus far, only a few teams have been engaged in hauling, but next week several more large teams will be put to work, and ore will be piled up at the furnace. In the mine everything is now in such shape as to facilitate the stopping of ore when extraction commences. Notwithstanding the ore that has been handled away lately large quantities yet remain on the dumps. The furnace at Bristol will start up about the 10th, and the supposition is that it will continue to run ninety days.—Proche Record.
